

Looking for a place to work?

Sarah Hauer, Milwaukee Journal Sentinel Published 11:38 a.m. CT Jan. 23, 2018 |
Updated 1:44 p.m. CT Jan. 24, 2018

(Photo: John Paul Greco Photography)

Entrepreneurs and remote workers are driving the need for co-working spaces where you can rent a desk, or a few, for a growing business.

In the Milwaukee area, a handful of new co-working spaces have opened in the past year dedicated to entrepreneurs, women business owners and water technology. The number of co-working spaces worldwide has more than doubled in the past three years, according to an Emergent Research report. The small business research firm predicts the number of co-working spaces worldwide will double again by 2022.

Whether you're turning a side hustle into a full-time gig or you're a digital nomad who needs to get out of the house, here are some co-working spaces around Milwaukee.

Ironwood

The Ironwood in Glendale has 15 office spaces ranging in size from 150 to 3,500 square feet.

(Photo: John Paul Greco Photography)

The Ironwood has 15 spaces that range in size from a one-person office to a multi-desk space. All the offices are private but enclosed with glass. The smallest is 150 square feet while the largest is 3,500.

Rent includes printing, access to conference rooms, Wi-Fi and an open kitchen with pastries brought in daily. Tenants can sign short-term leases and enter as they please. The building has parking spots. In some rooms, a desk rental goes for $200 a month, while a private office is $600 a month. A four-person office costs $1,600.

Website: ironwoodoffice.com

Address: 5205 N. Ironwood Road, Glendale